Dale had been a faithful club member for many years, he suffered a stroke a while back. He was listed in the 1989 membership list.

Several times at the field Dale would have a short story to tell me, about an airplane he was planning on getting ready to fly again.

The next time I saw him he told me how it went "Idle check, full power check, taxied out to the center of the runway and it died. It did that twice, took it back home."

I always enjoyed Dale, have missed seeing at the field the last couple years, was not aware that he had a stroke.

I'd like to share a memory of Dale. He was one of the first club members I got to know, and I can honestly say I never had a negative encounter with him. Dale was always cheerful and eager to discuss airplanes – my favorite topic as well. He was a welcome presence at the club, easily recognizable in his signature coveralls. I've missed seeing him these past few years. He was truly one of the kindest people in our club.
